Hi friends,

Alabama plans to file an amicus brief in support of Arkansas as it challenges the district court's preliminary injunction enjoining enforcement of the state's "Save Adolescents from Experimentation (SAFE) Act." The Act generally prohibits healthcare professionals from using hormones and surgery to treat gender dysphoria in children.

Our brief makes two main points. First, gender transition for minors is an area fraught with medical uncertainty that can lead to particularly tragic results. Here, the brief recounts a number of surveys of the medical literature by hospital systems in the UK, Finland, and Sweden that caused those countries to take a far more measured approach to treatment than the "gender-affirming care" model that the district court said the Constitution requires. Second, the brief contends that States have broad authority to regulate the medical profession, particularly in areas fraught with medical and scientific uncertainties such as this one. It also explains that the amici that the district court relied on—such as the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics—are not the neutral arbiters of science they purport to be.

We filed a similar brief in the district court in July, where we were joined by Alaska, Arizona, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Texas. That brief is also attached, as is the district court's preliminary injunction order and Arkansas's opening brief in the Eighth Circuit.

The brief is due this Friday, so we are asking for sign-ons by 1 pm CT on Friday, November 19. Apologies for the quick turnaround.

Please let Eddie and me know if you have questions or suggestions.

Thanks very much,
 Barrett

A quick summary:

On November 16, 2021, the Cass County District Court entered judgment against Dave Hansen, doing business as Hansen Elevator Service, after determining that he had engaged in violations of the consumer protection law. The Court found that Hansen had contracted to perform elevator maintenance services for four North Dakota businesses, solicited large advance payments, and then failed to provide materials or return to perform the work. The Court concluded that Hansen had also misrepresented that his business was registered in North Dakota and misrepresented that he held insurance. The Court banned Hansen from engaging in contracting work in North Dakota (for at least five years and) until he refunds $102,128.92 to the businesses he defrauded. Hansen was also ordered to reimburse $6,332.00 in costs to the State.

Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew |

Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely, Drew |

Subject: [EXTERNAL] CA8 Am. br. ISO Arkansas's SAFE Act - joins due Fri., Nov. 19 by 1pm CT

Hi friends,

Alabama plans to file an amicus brief in support of Arkansas as it challenges the district court's preliminary injunction enjoining enforcement of the state's "Save Adolescents from Experimentation (SAFE) Act." The Act generally prohibits healthcare professionals from using hormones and surgery to treat gender dysphoria in children.

Our brief makes two main points. First, gender transition for minors is an area fraught with medical uncertainty that can lead to particularly tragic results. Here, the brief recounts a number of surveys of the medical literature by hospital systems in the UK, Finland, and Sweden that caused those countries to take a far more measured approach to treatment than the "gender-affirming care" model that the district court said the Constitution requires. Second, the brief contends that States have broad authority to regulate the medical profession, particularly in areas fraught with medical and scientific uncertainties such as this one. It also explains that the amici that the district court relied on—such as the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics—are not the neutral arbiters of science they purport to be.

We filed a similar brief in the district court in July, where we were joined by Alaska, Arizona, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Texas. That brief is also attached, as is the district court's preliminary injunction order and Arkansas's opening brief in the Eighth Circuit.

The brief is due this Friday, so we are asking for sign-ons by 1 pm CT on Friday, November 19. Apologies for the quick turnaround.

Please let Eddie and me know if you have questions or suggestions.

Thanks very much,
Barrett

Subject: [EXTERNAL] CA8 Am. br. ISO Arkansas's SAFE Act - joins due Fri., Nov. 19 by 1pm CT

Hi friends,

Alabama plans to file an amicus brief in support of Arkansas as it challenges the district court's preliminary injunction enjoining enforcement of the state's "Save Adolescents from Experimentation (SAFE) Act." The Act generally prohibits healthcare professionals from using hormones and surgery to treat gender dysphoria in children.

Our brief makes two main points. First, gender transition for minors is an area fraught with medical uncertainty that can lead to particularly tragic results. Here, the brief recounts a number of surveys of the medical literature by hospital systems in the UK, Finland, and Sweden that caused those countries to take a far more measured approach to treatment than the "gender-affirming care" model that the district court said the Constitution requires. Second, the brief contends that States have broad authority to regulate the medical profession, particularly in areas fraught with medical and scientific uncertainties such as this one. It also explains that the amici that the district court relied on—such as the American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics—are not the neutral arbiters of science they purport to be.

We filed a similar brief in the district court in July, where we were joined by Alaska, Arizona, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Texas. That brief is also attached, as is the district court's preliminary injunction order and Arkansas's opening brief in the Eighth Circuit.

The brief is due this Friday, so we are asking for sign-ons by 1 pm CT on Friday, November 19. Apologies for the quick turnaround.

Please let Eddie and me know if you have questions or suggestions.

Thanks very much,
Barrett

I am interested in finding out more information about this important topic.Thanks Wayne, I pray that your day is blessed.Sincerely, Jeff Magrum |

I understand that we are in three lawsuits about the vaccine mandates with the federal government. Can you have someone send me a little explanation of each one so I can answer my constituents? Also, are you aware of a class action lawsuit by the states against the federal government about election integrity? I am interested in finding out more information about this important topic.Thanks Wayne, I pray that your day is blessed.Sincerely, Jeff Magrum |

I understand that we are in three lawsuits about the vaccine mandates with the federal government. Can you have someone send me a little explanation of each one so I can answer my constituents? Also, are you aware of a class action lawsuit by the states against the federal government about election integrity? I am interested in finding out more information about this important topic.                 Thanks Wayne, I pray that your day is blessed.                 Sincerely, Jeff Magrum |

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliably informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

Body

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CAS's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Hi all,

As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw.

If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings.

We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group.

As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.)

Sincerely,
 Drew

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliably informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

Body

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CAS's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Can Liz provide him with the complaints, petitions, or media releases? I don't have a press release for the OSHA Petition in my files. I will be getting back on the oil and gas hearing at 1. Otherwise I could try to provide something at the end of the day.

Jeff,
 I will find someone here who will be able to do a thumbnail on each of these 3 lawsuits. As far as an election integrity class action lawsuit, can you be a little more specific? I'm not sure what you may be referring to.
 Thanks.
 Wayne

Hi Wayne ,
 Just checking in. I understand that we are in three lawsuits about the vaccine mandates with the federal government. Can you have someone send me a little explanation of each one so I can answer my constituents? Also, are you aware of a class action lawsuit by the states against the federal government about election integrity? I am interested in finding out more information about this important topic.
 Thanks Wayne, I pray that your day is blessed.
 Sincerely, Jeff Magrum

I highly recommend that you do this for the people of ND. I have contacted all the legislators and get no where they see our state as the most secure voting system in the Nation or we don't have enough voter fraud here to matter. Have you spoken to Mike Lindell about his Case? I'm asking you now to protect our republic. Please stand for the people of North Dakota and protect our vote. All computers are hackable. We must have truth to our vote. Thank you for taking the time to read this I hope to hear from you soon. My prayers are with you, God bless and have a great night Michelle L Biegler |

I highly recommend that you do this for the people of ND. I have contacted all the legislators and get no where they see our state as the most secure voting system in the Nation or we don't have enough voter fraud here to matter. Have you spoken to Mike Lindell about his Case? I'm asking you now to protect our republic. Please stand for the people of North Dakota and protect our vote. All computers are hackable. We must have truth to our vote. Thank you for taking the time to read this I hope to hear from you soon. My prayers are with you, God bless and have a great night Michelle L Biegler |

Please pass along my sincere “thank you” for the bars – they were worth cheating on my diet for ☺☺ Thank you, Wayne, for the salary adjustment. I am so honored to be working with the lab staff. I likely wouldn't be here if not for my working for your office initially, which I also really enjoyed. Funny how life works sometimes, isn't it? I thought I'd never recover after being RIF'd from the NDUS office but I honestly couldn't be happier than I am right now. I'm learning a lot out here but mostly, I'm learning that I should have paid more attention to science when I was in school. I know that I am a very small part of the day-to-day operation of the crime lab, but I do take my job seriously and I am very proud to be here. My workload has gone from “zero-sixty” in the past four years and I'm trying hard to keep up. I do appreciate the fact that my efforts are recognized - I won't let you or the rest of the crew down! Thanks again,Deanna   Deanna Dailey Administrative Assistant ND Office of Attorney General Crime Laboratory Division                 2641 East Main Avenue                 Bismarck ND 58501                 701.328.6159 ddailey@nd.gov  <small>NOTE: Correspondence referencing cases may be retained as part of the Crime Laboratory Division case record and are subject to Discovery Requests.</small> <small>Please visit our website at https://attorneygeneral.nd.gov/sites/ag/files/documents/Crime-Lab1/CrimeLabCustomerSurvey-SFN16700.pdf to complete the Laboratory Feedback Survey. Please pass along my sincere “thank you” for the bars – they were worth cheating on my diet for ☺☺ Thank you, Wayne, for the salary adjustment. I am so honored to be working with the lab staff. I likely wouldn't be here if not for my working for your office initially, which I also really enjoyed. Funny how life works sometimes, isn't it? I thought I'd never recover after being RIF'd from the NDUS office but I honestly couldn't be happier than I am right now. I'm learning a lot out here but mostly, I'm learning that I should have paid more attention to science when I was in school. I know that I am a very small part of the day-to-day operation of the crime lab, but I do take my job seriously and I am very proud to be here. My workload has gone from “zero-sixty” in the past four years and I'm trying hard to keep up. I do appreciate the fact that my efforts are recognized - I won't let you or the rest of the crew down! Thanks again, Deanna   Deanna Dailey Administrative Assistant ND Office of Attorney General Crime Laboratory Division                 2641 East Main Avenue                 Bismarck ND 58501                 701.328.6159 ddailey@nd.gov  <small>NOTE: Correspondence referencing cases may be retained as part of the Crime Laboratory Division case record and are subject to Discovery Requests.</small> <small>Please visit our website at https://attorneygeneral.nd.gov/sites/ag/files/documents/Crime-Lab1/CrimeLabCustomerSurvey-SFN16700.pdf to complete the Laboratory Feedback Survey. Your wife is lovely (not to mention a good sport). Please pass along my sincere "thank you" for the bars – they were worth cheating on my diet for ☐☐

Thank you, Wayne, for the salary adjustment. I am so honored to be working with the lab staff. I likely wouldn't be here if not for my working for your office initially, which I also really enjoyed. Funny how life works sometimes, isn't it? I thought I'd never recover after being RIF'd from the NDUS office but I honestly couldn't be happier than I am right now. I'm learning a lot out here but mostly, I'm learning that I should have paid more attention to science when I was in school. I know that I am a very small part of the day-to-day operation of the crime lab, but I do take my job seriously and I am very proud to be here. My workload has gone from "zero-sixty" in the past four years and I'm trying hard to keep up.

I do appreciate the fact that my efforts are recognized - I won't let you or the rest of the crew down!

Thanks again,

Deanna

I am uncertain of the necessity of a Press Release at this juncture and I defer to you. However, if later asked about the media we would confirm our participation in the investigation.

UNDER PRESS EMBARGO

Dear Social Media Platform Multistate Investigation Working Group:

As discussed during our last working group call on November 5th, the AG Steering Committee (ASG of NE, VT, MA, CA, TN, RI, NJ, and KY) authorized the commencement of this investigation, and asked that staff of the lead states kick it off with a CID from each of their offices to Meta (f/f/a Facebook) investigating potential state consumer protection act claims relating to Meta's promotion and operation of Instagram to younger users. A draft of that CID is currently under review for final approval by the Steering Committee. We expect to issue that CID at some point later this week and we will update the group once we have done so.

In addition, the AG Steering Committee determined to make a brief press announcement about the investigation. The press teams of MA and NE have prepared a template press announcement, which is below. As you can see, it was just circulated to the press personnel in each of your offices. My understanding is that it is up to each state whether to issue any press statement on this, but that this template is the preferred messaging should a state decide to do so. This announcement is embargoed until further notice. We anticipate the embargo will be lifted late this week. We will keep you posted.

Please let either Phil Carlson, Chris Curtis, or myself know of any major problems that you are not able to work out through your own press persons.

Thank you everyone,

Below are helpful guidelines for limited messaging following the announcement. The guidelines are followed by a draft Swiss cheese release intended for future announcement following CIDs being issued. You will see we have chosen to NOT name/number AGs/states but to refer to "Attorneys General across the country". At this point, we are anticipating later this week but will keep you posted. Thank you to Jillian and her team for much of the lift in getting us to this point. Suzanne Gage                 Director of Communications                 Nebraska Attorney General                 Office: 402.471.2656                 Mobile: 402.560.3518 Suzanne.gage@nebraska.gov Public messaging guidance: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Do not disclose the issuance of the CIDs or specific details of the CIDs; do not provide the CIDs to members of the media.</li> <li>At this stage we are investigating, not enforcing any laws or alleging any violations.</li> <li>Please decline to comment substantively beyond this announcement as this is an ongoing and active investigation.</li> <li>Only speak to/confirm your own state's involvement.</li> </ul>  EMBARGOED UNTIL XXXX AG XXXX JOINS NATIONWIDE INVESTIGATION INTO INSTAGRAM'S IMPACT ON YOUNG PEOPLE Attorneys General Concerned for Safety and Well-being of Children; Examining Potential Violations of Consumer Protection Laws XXXX – Attorney General XXXX today joined a nationwide investigation into Meta Platforms, Inc., formerly known as Facebook, for providing and promoting its social media platform – Instagram – to children and young adults despite knowing that such use is associated with physical and mental health harms. Attorneys General across the country are examining whether the company violated state consumer protection laws and put the public at risk. AG QUOTE The investigation targets, among other things, the techniques utilized by Meta to increase the frequency and duration of engagement by young users and the resulting harms caused by such extended engagement. Today's announcement follows recent reports revealing that Meta's own internal research shows that using Instagram is associated with increased risks of physical and mental health harms on young people, including depression, eating disorders, and even suicide. AG XXXX has long been concerned about the negative impacts of social media platforms on [YOUR STATE]'s youngest residents. In May, a bipartisan coalition of 44 attorneys general urged Facebook to abandon its plans to launch a version of Instagram for children under the age of 13. ### |

I am uncertain of the necessity of a Press Release at this juncture and I defer to you. However, if later asked about the media we would confirm our participation in the investigation.

UNDER PRESS EMBARGO

Dear Social Media Platform Multistate Investigation Working Group:

As discussed during our last working group call on November 5th, the AG Steering Committee (ASG of NE, VT, MA, CA, TN, RI, NJ, and KY) authorized the commencement of this investigation, and asked that staff of the lead states kick it off with a CID from each of their offices to Meta (f/f/a Facebook) investigating potential state consumer protection act claims relating to Meta's promotion and operation of Instagram to younger users. A draft of that CID is currently under review for final approval by the Steering Committee. We expect to issue that CID at some point later this week and we will update the group once we have done so.

In addition, the AG Steering Committee determined to make a brief press announcement about the investigation. The press teams of MA and NE have prepared a template press announcement, which is below. As you can see, it was just circulated to the press personnel in each of your offices. My understanding is that it is up to each state whether to issue any press statement on this, but that this template is the preferred messaging should a state decide to do so. This announcement is embargoed until further notice. We anticipate the embargo will be lifted late this week. We will keep you posted.

Please let either Phil Carlson, Chris Curtis, or myself know of any major problems that you are not able to work out through your own press persons.

Thank you everyone,

Dear Friends:

You are receiving this communication because your AG is a part of the upcoming SMP announcement. Below are helpful guidelines for limited messaging following the announcement. The guidelines are followed by a draft Swiss cheese release intended for future announcement following CIDs being issued. You will see we have chosen to NOT name/number AGs/states but to refer to "Attorneys General across the country". At this point, we are anticipating later this week but will keep you posted.

Thank you to Jillian and her team for much of the lift in getting us to this point.

Public messaging guidance:

- Do not disclose the issuance of the CIDs or specific details of the CIDs; do not provide the CIDs to members of the media.
- At this stage we are investigating, not enforcing any laws or alleging any violations.
- Please decline to comment substantively beyond this announcement as this is an ongoing and active investigation.
- Only speak to/confirm your own state's involvement.

AG XXXX JOINS NATIONWIDE INVESTIGATION INTO INSTAGRAM'S IMPACT ON YOUNG PEOPLE
Attorneys General Concerned for Safety and Well-being of Children; Examining Potential Violations of Consumer Protection Laws

XXXX – Attorney General XXXX today joined a nationwide investigation into Meta Platforms, Inc., formerly known as Facebook, for providing and promoting its social media platform – Instagram – to children and young adults despite knowing that such use is associated with physical and mental health harms. Attorneys General across the country are examining whether the company violated state consumer protection laws and put the public at risk.

AG QUOTE

The investigation targets, among other things, the techniques utilized by Meta to increase the frequency and duration of engagement by young users and the resulting harms caused by such extended engagement. Today's announcement follows recent reports revealing that Meta's own internal research shows that using Instagram is associated with increased risks of physical and mental health harms on young people, including depression, eating disorders, and even suicide. AG XXXX has long been concerned about the negative impacts of social media platforms on [YOUR STATE]'s youngest residents. In May, a bipartisan coalition of 44 attorneys general urged Facebook to abandon its plans to launch a version of Instagram for children under the age of 13.

Dear Friends,

I am excited to share with you and the other members of the CSG Leadership Council and Executive Committee an advance copy of the proposed three-year strategic plan for The Council of State Governments.

Under the leadership of the 2020 and 2021 National Chair, Wisconsin Senator Joan Ballweg, and with the active engagement of the members of the Strategic Planning Task Force, a number of new, ambitious objectives were crafted with the goal of moving CSG forward. Since 1933, CSG has evolved to meet the changing needs of state officials. In this time of transition and transformation, when so much is changing, CSG must also change. But for nearly 90 years, our values have remained unchanged. This plan reaffirms our commitment to those values and sets CSG on a path for even greater success.

I commend the members of the task force for both the quality of their work and the inclusive process they used in creating the plan. The plan represents the collective thinking of a broad cross section of state officials.

At the upcoming CSG National Conference in Santa Fe, New Mexico, on Dec. 1-4, Chair Ballweg will present the strategic plan to the CSG Leadership Council and Executive Committee for approval. I wanted to make sure you had a chance to review an advance copy. Chair Ballweg also asked that I invite you to learn more about the plan and get your questions answered before we convene in Santa Fe. To that end, we have scheduled a briefing for you and other CSG leaders on Monday, November 22, at 2 p.m. EST via Zoom. (<https://csg-org.zoom.us/j/84973785161?pwd=eTFpOXdvbERYNjVoci9tV3plVkdPUT09>). This information will also be sent in a Microsoft Outlook invitation. Please let us know if you plan to attend by emailing a response to Jessica Clay at jclay@csg.org. Your feedback is important to us, and we welcome hearing from you even if you can't attend the Zoom briefing.

Thank you for your leadership and your support of CSG. I value your role in the governance of our organization. With your help and guidance, I am confident the best days for CSG are yet to come.

All the best,

David Adkins
 CSG Executive Director/CEO

We greatly appreciate your kind words! Thank you for reaching out.

Our laboratory has changed our testimony monitoring practices to meet our international accreditation standards. We no longer send out evaluation forms to attorneys as we had in the past. However, we still encourage emails from you on your thoughts and comments. I have included the laboratory director to this email chain.

Thank you for taking your witnesses out of order to complete our testimony as soon as you could. Your accommodation allowed us to return to the laboratory and continue working on other casework.

I don't know if this is real but there is a call out to the people to contact their Attorney General to get involved. Your picture and contact information is on the email. I am assuming that you will get the request to join soon. You will most likely get a lot of emails asking you to join the suit. Thanks for joining in on the other two lawsuits. I feel like you're representing us well. I see the one about OSHA is stayed ? Thanks again and Good Lords Blessings.Sincerely, Jeff Magrum   CAUTION: This email originated from an outside source. I don't know if this is real but there is a call out to the people to contact their Attorney General to get involved. Your picture and contact information is on the email. I am assuming that you will get the request to join soon. You will most likely get a lot of emails asking you to join the suit. Thanks for joining in on the other two lawsuits. I feel like you're representing us well. I see the one about OSHA is stayed ? Thanks again and Good Lords Blessings.Sincerely, Jeff Magrum   CAUTION: This email originated from an outside source. Hi everyone,

The attached amicus brief by Utah and Ohio supports respondent Florida Agency for Healthcare Administration in Gallardo v. Marstiller, No. 20-1263. The Medicaid Act requires a state Medicaid program to obtain a beneficiary's right to "payment for medical care from any third party." 42 U.S.C. § 1396k(a)(1)(A). In this case, Medicaid paid $862,688.77 of petitioner's medical costs and she obtained an $800,000 settlement from a tortfeasor for her injuries. Petitioner contends that Medicaid is entitled to reimbursement of only $35,267.52 from that settlement because only that amount represents payment for past medical care. The question presented is whether Medicaid may also seek reimbursement of its medical assistance payments from the portion of petitioner's settlement representing payment for future medical care.

The amicus argues that (1) the Medicaid statute requires the State to seek reimbursement from payments for "medical care," and it does so without distinguishing between past and future medical care; and (2) in resolving this case, the Court should not suggest that the petitioners in this case had a valid cause of action. Florida's respondent brief is also attached.

We will be filing on Monday Nov. 22. If your state would like to join the amicus, please email me at mellisaholyoak@agutah.gov by 5:00 pm MT on November 18, 2021.

No, there are 3. I thought you got something on all of them:

1. The OSHA rule
2. The Contractor and subcontractor rule
3. The CMS nursing home/healthcare rule.

Yes, I received two press releases from Liz. I had heard that there were three but perhaps there are only two? Thanks for the information, I appreciate your work on these important issues.

Hi Wayne,
 There is supposed to be a lawsuit being filed by the states. I don't know if this is real but there is a call out to the people to contact their Attorney General to get involved. Your picture and contact information is on the email. I am assuming that you will get the request to join soon. You will most likely get a lot of emails asking you to join the suit. Thanks for joining in on the other two lawsuits. I feel like you're representing us well. I see the one about OSHA is stayed ? Thanks again and Good Lords Blessings.
 Sincerely, Jeff Magrum

Great outcome all around—and it certainly vindicates our decision to concede on the three provisions that we did under Part D. I think we earned a ton of credibility with the panel. Howard and I drafted up a press release for the Attorney General. A copy is attached. As you know, PCMA has 14 days from yesterday to petition for rehearing. We cannot respond unless ordered to do so by the Court. After the period for rehearing expires, or if rehearing is denied, the Court will issue its mandate, returning jurisdiction to the district court. At that point, we'll have to see if the district court wants advice on the language of the final judgment. Separately, PCMA will have 90 days from the opinion or the denial of rehearing, whichever is later, to petition the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari. That petition would not affect whatever judgment is issued by the district court—unless PCMA moves to stay the mandate. We would be surprised if PCMA sought such a stay though, which are not the norm. As a result, the State should be in a position to start enforcing the law as soon as the mandate issues, because that will formally set aside the district court's prior judgment. Rob Robert T. We ran the table on ERISA preemption, and we won on everything but fees and performance standards under Medicare Part D. Just as importantly, the Eighth Circuit adopted a framework for Part D preemption that preserves a role for the States in regulating PBMs—even as applied to Part D plans. There's a lot more in the opinion, but we didn't want to hold up sending it off to you. Howard and I will give Mark a call shortly to run through the opinion with him. Rob Robert T. Great outcome all around—and it certainly vindicates our decision to concede on the three provisions that we did under Part D. I think we earned a ton of credibility with the panel. Howard and I drafted up a press release for the Attorney General. A copy is attached. As you know, PCMA has 14 days from yesterday to petition for rehearing. We cannot respond unless ordered to do so by the Court. After the period for rehearing expires, or if rehearing is denied, the Court will issue its mandate, returning jurisdiction to the district court. At that point, we'll have to see if the district court wants advice on the language of the final judgment. Separately, PCMA will have 90 days from the opinion or the denial of rehearing, whichever is later, to petition the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari. That petition would not affect whatever judgment is issued by the district court—unless PCMA moves to stay the mandate. We would be surprised if PCMA sought such a stay though, which are not the norm. As a result, the State should be in a position to start enforcing the law as soon as the mandate issues, because that will formally set aside the district court's prior judgment. Rob Robert T. We ran the table on ERISA preemption, and we won on everything but fees and performance standards under Medicare Part D. Just as importantly, the Eighth Circuit adopted a framework for Part D preemption that preserves a role for the States in regulating PBMs—even as applied to Part D plans. There's a lot more in the opinion, but we didn't want to hold up sending it off to you. Howard and I will give Mark a call shortly to run through the opinion with him. Rob Robert T. I wouldn't worry about it. It seems to me that the Judge may have taken a judicious approach to the attorney's fees.
 He's not denying them for all time, and I agree with him that we may want to save what few resources that will remain for some meager restitution for the consumers.
 We can afford it more than most of them.
 Besides, we got the real relief we wanted.
 Good job, all in all.
 Wayne

Attached is the decision in which Judge Reich issued the Preservation Order; However, he did not grant our attorney's fees. The machinations and/or tortuous path he took in avoiding awarding our attorney's fees is stunning and, even more so, disturbing because it could become the precedence for other judges in this case.

Wayne – There is a chance (not sure yet) I will need to visit with you next Monday or Tuesday regarding the natural gas transmission line funding the Legislature appropriated to the Industrial Commission. I wanted to check to see if you are going to be in the office next week since it is Thanksgiving week. If you are going to be out, then I would ask if you have availability Friday afternoon. I would prefer next week if at all possible so I can make sure I have all my legal questions prepared but can do it tomorrow if needed. Karlene

Do not click links or open attachments unless you know they are safe.   Friends, Alabama plans to submit comments on two related proposed rules concerning the Endangered Species Act. The first, issued by the Fish and Wildlife Service and the National Marine Fisheries Service, proposes rescinding the Services' final rule defining the term "habitat" for purposes of designating "critical habitat." The second, published only by the FWS, proposes rescinding the Service's implementing regulation detailing how and when it will conduct an analysis to exclude areas from critical habitat designation. Our main concern with both proposed rules is that they seek to increase agency discretion by limiting transparency and predictability. Additionally, the final rules they seek to rescind were promulgated to comply with the Supreme Court's teaching in Weyerhaeuser Co. v. U.S. Fish &amp; Wildlife Serv., 139 S. Ct. 361 (2018), that (1) "critical habitat" must actually be "habitat" for a species, and (2) the Secretary's discretionary decision not to exclude critical habitat is subject to review under the APA. The new proposed rules seek to revert to pre-Weyerhaeuser regulations. I have attached our draft comment letter (which combines the comments for both proposed rules), as well as the proposed rules and the final rules they seek to rescind. Comments are due next Friday, November 26, 2021—the day after Thanksgiving. We can accept joins until 12 pm CT that day. If joining, please send a digital signature of the AG. Thanks for your consideration. Please let Barrett and me know if you have any comments or questions. Best,Eddie Confidentiality Notice: The information contained in this email and the documents attached hereto contain confidential information intended only for the use of the intended recipients. The first, issued by the Fish and Wildlife Service and the National Marine Fisheries Service, proposes rescinding the Services' final rule defining the term "habitat" for purposes of designating "critical habitat." The second, published only by the FWS, proposes rescinding the Service's implementing regulation detailing how and when it will conduct an analysis to exclude areas from critical habitat designation. Our main concern with both proposed rules is that they seek to increase agency discretion by limiting transparency and predictability. Additionally, the final rules they seek to rescind were promulgated to comply with the Supreme Court's teaching in Weyerhaeuser Co. v. U.S. Fish &amp; Wildlife Serv., 139 S. Ct. 361 (2018), that (1) "critical habitat" must actually be "habitat" for a species, and (2) the Secretary's discretionary decision not to exclude critical habitat is subject to review under the APA. The new proposed rules seek to revert to pre-Weyerhaeuser regulations. I have attached our draft comment letter (which combines the comments for both proposed rules), as well as the proposed rules and the final rules they seek to rescind. Comments are due next Friday, November 26, 2021—the day after Thanksgiving. We can accept joins until 12 pm CT that day. If joining, please send a digital signature of the AG. Thanks for your consideration. Hi Wayne - I understand you won't be able to sign the bond opinions until you get back on Wednesday.

Jaden contacted me and said that "bonds close on Tuesday" and HFA needs the opinions by Monday.

I am looking for direction as to how to get them back to Jaden and then HFA. They are attached to this email.

If you okay them, I do have your e-signature or your stamp which could be affixed to them and they can go out.

Please advise!

Hi Wayne - I understand you won't be able to sign the bond opinions until you get back on Wednesday.

Jaden contacted me and said that "bonds close on Tuesday" and HFA needs the opinions by Monday.

I am looking for direction as to how to get them back to Jaden and then HFA. They are attached to this email.

If you okay them, I do have your e-signature or your stamp which could be affixed to them and they can go out.

Please advise!

To whom it may concern I would like for you to help us. My husband was arrested in Jamestown unfortunately. It was documented that he refused piss test for DUI which when you can't piss its not fair or right for officer to put refusal especially when there is other means of doing a DUI test . Courts found him not quilty yet the state will not remove the suspension of his licenses. So it is double jeropdy. It puts us in a bind all our vehicles are marked as suspension driver from Minnesota and North Dakota and we need these vehicles for medical reasons. My husband needs double lung transplant which means driving to Mayo clinic many trips which is 5 hours away from where we live. And we cannot afford another vehicle to be put under my name. With my husband on oxygen 24/7 we have to have our van for sake of hauling oxygen tanks with us to his appointments. I need to go to Mayo myself i been doctoring there for last 2 years now everything is screwed up...we do not have anyone to haul us around or can not afford a taxi especially since my husband can not work. Also while in custody at Stutsman county jail. They flushed my husband's dentures and wedding ring down sewer. When they could of put gloves on and picked the stuff up and put in baggie and put in with his property. I don't care about his behavior cause he has mental health issues and that causes his behavior so they should of taken it consideration when I told them he has mental health issues. So that place needs to learn more about Mental health behavior.. so we would like his black hills gold wedding ring replaced and his dentures.. My husband's name is James Allen Jones We live in Dilworth, Minnesota.

THIS IS DOUBLE JEROPDY IF COURTS FIND A PERSON NOT QUILTY THATS WHAT IT SHOULD BE.

THEY SEND OUT THESE LETTERS WHILE IN JAIL HOW CAN A PERSON APPEAL ANYTHING.

All,

Two updates:

1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
2. Based on (convinced) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

Body

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of the States of ____ all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel."

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

Body

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

Body

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Hi all,

As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw.

If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings.

We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group.

As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.)

Sincerely,
 Drew

All,

Two updates:

- 1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
- 2. Based on (convinced) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails I'm getting, I'm afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me. Josh's email address is Joshua.Richardson@OhioAGO.gov

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

Body

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of the States of ____ all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel."

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Hi all,

As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw.

If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings.

We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group.

As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.)

Sincerely,
 Drew

One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition—we'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

All,

Two updates:

- 1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
- 2. Based on (convincing) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

Subject: OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,
Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails I'm getting, I'm afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me.

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

Body

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of _____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel."

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliably informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CAS's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely,                 Drew The information contained in this transmission may contain privileged and confidential information. One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition—we'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

All,

Two updates:

- 1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
- 2. Based on (convincing) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: "So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc."

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: "First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.")

All,
Here is a proposed petition for initial en banc review. We have done our best to write it in a way that will appeal to those judges we most need to convince. We plan to file Monday at noon, so please send any joinder by Monday, November 22, at 10 AM Eastern.

Important: To be sure we do not miss you, please copy Josh Richardson in our office, who will keep a copy of all sign-ons. With all the emails I'm getting, I'm afraid I may miss one if you send it just to me.

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

Body

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review—it will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I'm told it cannot do that.

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the "support of The States of _____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel."

Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

Body

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that we're reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye's petition.

Subject: Re: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CAS's stay remains in place and it's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. I'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away—I'd agree entirely that we shouldn't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we're assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely,Drew The information contained in this transmission may contain privileged and confidential information. One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition. We'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

All,

Two updates:

1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
2. Based on (convincing) feedback we've received, we will cut this line: 602 So, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc 602.

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: 602 First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner 602.)

 Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review. It will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I think we told it cannot do that.

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the support of the States of _____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel.

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that weak™re reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn™t going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye™s petition.

 Subject: Re: DSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5C's stay remains in place and it5C's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. it5C'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there5C's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don5C't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away5C't5C'd agree entirely that we should5C't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we5C'tre assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Hi all,

As you have all undoubtedly seen, the Sixth Circuit was chosen by lottery for all of our challenges to the OSHA mandate. Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw.

If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings.

We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group.

As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.)

Sincerely,

Drew

One more update. According to the attached scheduling order, all petitions for initial en banc review are due Wednesday. (No problem there, as we'll file tomorrow.) It also tells us to make all filings in the filer's case plus in the consolidated case. I don't take that to bar us from filing a consolidated petition. We'll just file in the Sixth Circuit case plus in the consolidated lead case, listing all other cases at the top. And the Sixth Circuit is usually pretty reasonable about these things. To the extent there is an issue, I would think we could resolve it by having each coalition filing a me-too letter.

All,

Two updates:

1. So far, Florida, Alabama, and South Carolina have all signed on.
2. Based on (convincing) feedback we4E received, we will cut this line: 4060so, if hearing this case en banc is the only way to decide it correctly, then the Court has no choice but to hear it en banc.4E

All,

The attached version of the petition for rehearing en banc corrects a nit and replaces an inadvertent omission. (Specifically, it now includes this sentence: 4060First, the Vaccine Mandate is a regulation of public health, plain and simple; its purpose and its effect is to regulate private healthcare decisions by making life harder for citizens who refuse to care for themselves in the federally approved manner.4E)

 Subject: RE: OSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc

All,

The court already ordered DOJ to respond to Buckeye's petition. The response is due on Tuesday.

We now recommend seeking initial en banc review. It will function as an amicus brief supporting Buckeye's request. It would be easiest if we could simply respond to the en banc request. But I called the Sixth Circuit and I think I told it cannot do that.

The Sixth Circuit plans to draft a short petition for initial en banc review. Its main function will be to signal that we aren't opposed to this plan. We will do our best to draft it today, circulate it tomorrow, and be ready to file Monday.

One wrinkle: I don't think States on cases outside the Sixth Circuit can join our brief until the formal MDL docket is made. So if there's no docket on Monday, my inclination would be to say in the brief that we have secured the support of the States of _____, all of whom are parties to other cases consolidated for decision before the panel.

All,

The Sixth Circuit coalition met, and we recommend not filing yet. The dispositive fact, for us, is that weak™re reliability informed the Buckeye Institute will be seeking initial en banc review today. Our filing a similar request isn't going to move the ball, though it may irritate some members of the Court. Allowing Buckeye to do the work allows us to have the upside of a motion without any of the downside.

A note about next steps. If the Court asks for a response, that would be a good sign that someone inclined to rule for us thinks we have an unfavorable panel but a favorable en banc court. For that reason, would recommend agreeing with the motion for initial en banc review in any response we file to Buckeye™s petition.

 Subject: Re: DSHA Challenges - CA6 Request for Initial Hearing En Banc?

I like the idea, but have a couple of thoughts.

First: as I understand it (and I may be wrong), CA5C's stay remains in place and it5C's up CA6 as to whether to lift it. it5C'd want to see whether CA6 lifted the stay before deciding whether to go en banc. If they leave it in place, there5C's 1) far less of a justification for going initially en banc in terms of reliance interests, and 2) basically no need. The feds play the strategic acceleration/slowdown game all the time; I don5C't think we need to accommodate their desire for haste if we keep the stay.

If the stay went away5C't5C'd agree entirely that we should5C't leave ourselves to the vicissitudes of a bad panel draw when we5C'tre assured a good en banc. But perhaps we should let this play out a bit further before going that route.

Although this is hardly an original thought, our inclination was to seek initial hearing en banc for the stay motions and petitions for review. We could certainly be convinced otherwise, but that approach seems justified by the enormous importance of the case and by the interest in avoiding an aberrational panel draw. If other states broadly agree, we propose filing a joint motion on behalf of all interested states and all co-petitioners. We think that approach will both improve the chances of initial en banc hearing being granted, and avoid annoying the court with multiple separate filings. We are certainly not Sixth Circuit experts, so please take suggestion with that grain of salt. Happy to discuss this either by email exchange or on the call Thursday. We are definitely not wedded to the concept, but thought it at least merited some discussion within our group. As they say on Twitter, Happy Lottery Day! (I suspect we may have had a happier one than some others though.) Sincerely,                 Drew The information contained in this transmission may contain privileged and confidential information. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed.</li> <li>2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text:</li> </ol> This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Ben Flowers         Ohio Solicitor General         Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost         Office number: (614) 728-7311         Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed.</li> <li>Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text:</li> </ol> This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Ben Flowers Ohio Solicitor General Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost Office number: (614) 728-7311 Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. Hello everyone,

I am excited to announce that we will once again be participating in the Hope For the Holidays event this year for the Abused Adult Resource Center. We adopted 2 small families and the individuals within the family are located below. These lists are to give ideas of what you may purchase for them, if you wish, and you may purchase whatever you would like for them as well.

PLEASE NOTE: When purchasing toys for children please be aware that due to the fact that a weapon may have been used during a violent incident, we request that no toy guns or weapons be purchased.

Please make sure the items are new and are wrapped or in gift bags and PLEASE make sure the client ID number is clearly marked on each package. Each individual has a number and letter(s) to identify them.

We plan on dropping off the gifts around the 7th of December, so please have make your purchases accordingly.

(The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed.</li> <li>2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text:</li> </ol> This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Ben FlowersOhio Solicitor GeneralOffice of Ohio Attorney General Dave YostOffice number: (614) 728-7511Cell phone: (614) 736-4938benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov <small>Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed.</li> <li>2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text:</li> </ol> This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. Ben Flowers         Ohio Solicitor General         Office of Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost         Office number: (614) 728-7511         Cell phone: (614) 736-4938 benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov <small>Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. We just received the email below from the Court suggesting either the afternoon of January 12 or anytime January 13 for a hearing on ND's mandamus motion in the DOI O&G leasing case. I can do either; do you have a preference? Though we might not get it, I think we should propose to the Court that 2 hours be set aside for the hearing (1 hour for each side)

Good morning everyone,

Judge Traynor would like to hold a hearing on the pending motion for writ of mandamus. We currently have the afternoon of January 12 or any time on January 13 available for the hearing. Unfortunately, our calendar doesn't really have much open besides those two days. Please let me know as soon as possible (1) if January 12 or 13 work for you and (2) how much time you believe will be necessary for the hearing. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,

Liz & Alice and Wayne - I have changed the start time for the November 29 Industrial Commission meeting from 12:00 noon to 12:30 p.m. The Land Board will be meeting that morning in the Governor's Conference Room and we want to leave a little time between meetings for set up plus give the Commission members time to eat lunch. Please change your schedules to the 12:30 p.m. start time. Thank you. Karlene

Alaska will join and we already sent our comments to John, Jesus and Jim (the awesome J trifecta). I agree that collecting and sending them as a coalition is a good idea.

All &c"

In case you have not received it, here is Chloik's petition for an habeas consideration in the OSHA case. I think they are offering States only (not private petitioners) the chance to join or express support for this, by Monday.

Also, the Eighth Circuit entered its transfer order in our case a short time ago. Our panel was Judges Gruender, Kelly, and Kobes. Hopefully this means we will be docketed soon in the Sixth Circuit.

All-

Attached please find a working draft of the Reply brief in support of our stay motion, which is due today at 3:00 pm Central. Because the Circuit lottery may be as soon as tomorrow, I would like to file this earlier than 3:00 pm if possible, to give the Eighth Circuit maximum opportunity to consider our arguments if it plans to issue a decision in the next 24 hours. So please provide any thoughts or comments as promptly as possible. (I am sorry for the extra format.) Also, the current draft is at about 3600 words, without introduction. The word limit is 2600 and DOJ has consented in advance to 3500. I would like to get this as close as possible to the actual word limit, because the Court does not like word-limit extensions, so if you think there are good areas to cut, please let us know.

Thanks a lot, John

The Fifth Circuit has extended its stay of the OSHA mandate in a 22-page opinion, see attached. This should give a lot of support for our reply brief due Monday.

The Government has just filed its opposition to our motion to stay the OSHA mandate (along with motion for leave to file). See attached. We will start reviewing and drafting immediately, and attempt to get a mature draft reply circulated by Monday morning. Thanks, John

All:

As you have probably seen, DOJ is asking for our consent to file an overlength 360combined44E response of about 7000 words to our motion to stay and the motion to stay in the consolidated private-party challenge (brought by Boyden Gray on behalf of Job Creators Network et al.). See attached email chain. I am not happy about this request because I think it is an obvious gambit to evade the 3000 word limitation for motion replies in FRAP-27. That said, I think it will be granted given the expedited briefing schedule, and the extra words will probably not make a big difference. I am considering telling DOJ that we will consent to this request if they will consent to a proportionate increase of words for our reply brief due Monday (i.e. from 2800 to 3500 words). Please let me know if anyone has thoughts.

Thanks, John

Thanks to all of you I have entered all changes. I have also added the additional (bolded) language to leave open the prospect of arguing that we are protected by the Fifth Circuit's stay. We will file asap. Thanks, John

P.S. OSHA Act is short for Occupational Safety and Health Act but since several of you tagged that, I have changed it.

On November 6, 2021, the Fifth Circuit, facing a parallel motion to stay the ETS filed by private employers on November 5, entered a temporary administrative stay and ordered expedited briefing on the stay motion, with OSHA's brief responding to the stay motion due on November 8, and Petitioners' reply due on November 9. See Order in No. 21-60845 (5th Cir. Nov. 6, 2021) (attached as Ex. A). Though the Fifth Circuit's order may be construed to have nationwide effect, it does not make an explicit statement on this point. See id. To avoid any confusion and to secure full protection of their rights, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court enter a similar order here. Because Respondents will already be responding to a similar stay motion in the Fifth Circuit today, requesting a response to Petitioners' stay motion here by tomorrow should impose no prejudice on them.

That makes sense to me as well. If DOJ has to respond in the Fifth Circuit by 5pm CST tomorrow, there is no reason why they could not file a response to our motion raising similar arguments by midnight Monday, or at least 5pm Tuesday.

They have had far longer to prepare for this than us (and access to the ETS rule itself), so I don't think they have much of a leg to stand on (particularly with the 15-day state plan deadline).

All- As you may have seen, the Fifth Circuit granted a temporary stay and ordered expedited briefing on the Texas Policy Foundation's stay motion this afternoon. In light of that, I plan to prepare a motion for similarly expedited consideration of our stay motion, requesting a ruling in a week. I will cite the concerns of the state plan states that must now act within 15 days, among others. Please let me know if anyone has concerns about that approach. Thanks. John

By way of update, attached is the email we sent this morning to OSHAAC's designated service address for challenge to this ETS. We are asking their consent to an administrative stay pending consideration of the stay motion, a stay pending judicial review, and expedited briefing on the stay motion. Notwithstanding what I said yesterday, we are going to try mightily to get the stay motion on file today, so please look for an updated draft this afternoon. Thanks, John

All: Given the length of the ETS, which we are still digesting, we propose filing the PJR tomorrow morning at the opening of business, but target filing the stay motion on Monday. Based on our review so far, we plan to re-work some of the arguments in the draft stay motion to address OSHA's points, and we'd rather take the extra business day to get it right. If you are still preparing declarations, please get them to us by COB tomorrow. (I think I have finalized declarations from Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wyoming, Missouri, AAJ, and Doolittle). Thanks, John

Looks like they put an unpublished version on the federal register with intent to publish tomorrow <https://www.federalregister.gov/public-inspection/2021-23643/covid-19-vaccination-and-testing-emergency-temporary-standard> [federalregister.gov]

Probably the best course is to file the FRJ tomorrow morning, at the same time as the stay motion (which we will be able to update and finalize today) :4? Does that sound like a good course of action to all?

John,

I thought we needed to wait to file until our petition until the ETS is actually published in the Federal Register. Today's Federal Register is already out and does not include the ETS, so tomorrow is the earliest it could be published. Am I mistaken about that?

Sam

ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT - CONFIDENTIAL
Draft Eighth Circuit Challenge to OSHA Vaccine Mandate

All:

We are anticipating that the OSHA mandate will be announced this morning at 7:45 am Central. We would like to file the Petition for Judicial Review as soon as possible after it is announced. Attached is the near-final Petition for Judicial Review, which is virtually the same as the one I circulated last week, with minor formatting changes. There are still highlighted blanks for the Fed. Reg. cites, but otherwise it should be final. I understand that Missouri still has full authority from each of you to file this in the Eighth Circuit on your behalf, and we will pull the trigger as soon as we can. If anyone has last-minute changes or objections, please let me know before 7:30 am Central.

Once we have the mandate, we will also plan to update the stay motion and circulate it for review as soon as possible as well. I would like to have it on file by tomorrow morning if possible.

Thanks a lot for your support in this important project!!

Thanks a lot, John

ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT - CONFIDENTIAL - CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel:

We have heard rumors that the OSHA ETS mandating vaccines for employers with 100+ employees may be published today. These rumors may or may not be accurate, but we would like to be prepared to file the Petition for Review immediately after the ETS is published, and follow up with the stay motion within one business day. Attached are updated circulation drafts of the Petition for Review and Stay Motion. I think I have received confirmation of joining from all potentially interested States except South Dakota. If you have joined but I am still missing your signature block (Arizona, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, Alaska), please send it asap this morning so that we can be poised to file the petition right away if necessary. Also, if you are still working on state or employer declarations, please work on finalizing them promptly, as we expect a one-day turnaround between the ETS's publication and filing the stay motion.

By joining, you are designating me and the Missouri AGO to jointly represent your State for the sole purpose of this case in the Eighth Circuit (and SCOTUS, if necessary). This will avoid the need to file multiple briefs for each co-petitioner.

Thanks a lot for your support in this project!

Thanks, John Sauer

PRIVILEGED & ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT & JOINT DEFENSE PRIVILEGE & CLOSED RECORD

Dear Counsel:-

As I have discussed with many of you, Missouri, Arizona, Montana, and Nebraska are planning to file a legal challenge in the Eighth Circuit to OSHA's anticipated vaccine mandate for employers with 100 or more employees. The proposed rule was sent by OSHA to OIRA on Tuesday, and we anticipate it may be published as soon as tomorrow. Once it is filed, we anticipate filing a petition for judicial review immediately, and following up as soon as possible with a motion for stay of the ETS pending judicial review. Attached are advance drafts of those two pleadings. Please note that the stay motion is anticipatory and subject to change, because we don't yet have a copy of the ETS yet, but the draft should provide an outline of most likely major lines of argument. Please let us know if you would like to join this coalition challenging the ETS, and if so, please send a signature block for your State or private employer. We intend to file the PJR as quickly as possible after the ETS is promulgated, so the sooner you could let us know, the better.

Also, attached please find sample declarations for States and private employers that detail the adverse impact of the ETS on petitioners. If you pull together a similar declaration for your State (and feel free to expand on it if you have other injuries), that would be very helpful. In addition to these, "Iowa," could you please provide a declaration that explains your status as a State?

Thanks a lot,

John Sauer

I'm happy to help coordinate this process and help answer questions as best I can. The general instructions are here. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. First, Complete this form and oath. It requires someone already admitted to sign.</li> <li>2. If you need someone admitted in the 6th to sign your form, fill out the rest of the form and email it to me. I will print, sign, and email it back to you.</li> <li>3. Obtain a method of payment for the $238 fee (paid electronically or via check)</li> <li>4. The best way to submit both the form and the fee is electronically via the CMECF system – which will allow you to simply attach the admission form as a pdf.</li> <li>5. However, you must register for a Sixth Circuit CMECF account to pay fees and submit the form. (let me know if you're unsure how to do this)</li> <li>6. The bar admission link is found under the "Utilities" tab within the Sixth Circuit's CMECF.</li> <li>7. Alternatively, you can mail in your form and payment via small mail.</li> </ol> Please let me know if you have questions. Best, Brandon Brandon James Smith Assistant Solicitor General &amp; Director of Policy and Federalism Office of the Tennessee Attorney General &amp; Reporter P.O. Subject: UPDATES - OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

I've attached the most up-to-date version of the brief. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes:

1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed.
2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text:

This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed.

I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge.

I plan to reach out to the employer, but want to make sure I have my facts straight. From my perspective, there is currently no federal mandate, as the OSHA rule was stayed by the circuit court. In that event, the employer should follow state law, specifically HB 1511 as recently passed. So they should allow proof of antibodies, regular testing and philosophical/moral exemptions as an option instead of taking the vaccine. Am I off base here? Thank you! Best regards, Bob Bob Paulson State Representative District 3 – Minot Cell: 701-833-4752 bpaulson@nd.gov Judiciary Committee Transportation Committee -----Original Message----- From: Austin F &lt;oilfield33@yahoo.com&gt; Sent: Tuesday, November 23, 2021 9:01 AM To: Paulson, Bob L. &lt;bpaulson@nd.gov&gt; Subject: Baker Hughes Vaccine Mandate  CAUTION: This email originated from an outside source. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed.</li> <li>2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text:             This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed. I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA5's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge. </li> </ol> Ben FlowersOhio Solicitor GeneralOffice of Ohio Attorney General Dave YostOffice number: (614) 728-7511Cell phone: (614) 736-4938benjamin.flowers@ohioattorneygeneral.gov Confidentiality Notice: This message is intended for use only by the individual or entity to whom or which it is addressed and may contain sensitive data and information that is privileged, confidential and/or otherwise exempt from disclosure under applicable law. The Sixth Circuit has asked me to file a statement saying I had permission from all the other States to file. I will plan to do that, even though I strongly believe it is unnecessary.

Subject: UPDATES - OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

I've attached the most up-to-date version of the brief. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes:

1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed.
2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text:

This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed.

I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA9's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge.

Subject: UPDATES - OSHA - Petn for Initial En Banc Review

All,

I've attached the most up-to-date version of the brief. (The only changes from last version are non-substantive.) Our plan is to file tomorrow (Monday) at about noon, so please let us know by 10 AM Eastern if you would like to join or if you have any concerns. Two important notes:

1. I tried to use the signature blocks that you all included on your petitions initiating challenges in the other States. Let me know if you have any concerns or are for some reason not listed.
2. Some news from the Sixth Circuit. On Friday evening, the Court told us not to file a reply in support of our stay motion. Here is the docket text:

This is to advise that in light of the stay issued by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals relevant to this case, the reply to the response as ordered by letter of this Court dated November 7, 2021, need not be filed.

I take this to mean that, as far as the CA6 is concerned, the CA9's stay isn't going away unless the federal government asks. And it hasn't yet, to my knowledge.

I have some general legal questions for you regarding the recent actions by the Legislature in regards to the IC but wonder if we have time for Justin to give you a short briefing on the new program we are proposing? Mary Kae will also need some of our time for discussing the Legacy bond opinion we are asking you to sign. I think we can get through everything in 30 minutes? Is that okay? Karlene |

An order is imminent, but to summarize: the district court indicated that it will consolidate the preliminary injunction with a hearing on the merits for at least the legal issues (i.e., the non-arbitrary and capricious claims) and possibly the entire case and appears willing to rule before December 8. The court directed the parties to work to file a statement of stipulated facts by December 6. I hope everyone has a happy Thanksgiving. Sincerely, Michael Talent   Deputy Solicitor General         Missouri Attorney General's Office         815 Olive Street, Suite 200         St. Louis, MO 63101 Michael.Talent@ago.mo.gov <small>This email message, including the attachments, is from the Missouri Attorney General's Office. An order is imminent, but to summarize: the district court indicated that it will consolidate the preliminary injunction with a hearing on the merits for at least the legal issues (i.e., the non-arbitrary and capricious claims) and possibly the entire case and appears willing to rule before December 8. The court directed the parties to work to file a statement of stipulated facts by December 6. I hope everyone has a happy Thanksgiving. Sincerely, Michael Talent   Deputy Solicitor General         Missouri Attorney General's Office         815 Olive Street, Suite 200         St. Louis, MO 63101 Michael.Talent@ago.mo.gov This email message, including the attachments, is from the Missouri Attorney General's Office. Subject: RE: Ivermectin Article

Hi Wayne,

I am not able to open it either. I had Laura Miller look at it as well, with no luck. There is something it that is not compatible with Adobe. Was this the format it was sent to you?

Thank you,

Heidi

Honorable Mr. Stenehjem, NDAG

please read the attached article, paying closer attention to the final paragraph.

It is my understanding that even though we passed HB 1514 during the special session, a physician in Jamestown, ND was dismissed.

Carved out of 1514, much to my dismay, was the requirement for hospitals to administer Off-label FDA approved drugs to treat COVID when a patient or family member requested the right-to-try.

I would appreciate any help you can lend to this dire situation.

However, I did want to alert you that I do not have the final amendments that the Oil and Gas Division will be presenting on Monday in the book. I have not received them from Bruce. You may want to visit with Dave Phillips to find out what DMR is planning to present. Karlene |

Subject: FW: Hope For the Holidays Event

Hello everyone,

I am excited to announce that we will once again be participating in the Hope For the Holidays event this year for the Abused Adult Resource Center. We adopted 2 small families and the individuals within the family are located below. These lists are to give ideas of what you may purchase for them, if you wish, and you may purchase whatever you would like for them as well.

PLEASE NOTE: When purchasing toys for children please be aware that due to the fact that a weapon may have been used during a violent incident, we request that no toy guns or weapons be purchased.

Please make sure the items are new and are wrapped or in gift bags and PLEASE make sure the client ID number is clearly marked on each package. Each individual has a number and letter(s) to identify them.

We plan on dropping off the gifts around the 7th of December, so please make your purchases accordingly. You can bring the gifts and place them under the reception area Christmas tree or you can keep them with you until we get closer to the drop off time. There is an envelope on the tree to place gift cards in should you choose to purchase those for any of the family members. This list will be printed out and in the 1st floor copy room so please remember to cross off anything you will be purchasing or have purchased off the list so we do not double up on presents.
