

Beauty Bay Golf Course, Senior Men's League, June 10, 2025

"Golf: another version of hide and seek." Anonymous.

A sigh of relief was had by many of us as we were grateful for the recent rain. Yesterday's soaker was a nice reprieve. We had a good turnout today. 64 golfers, 2 of them guests.

Chris, John, Husky, and Husky's guest, Marc. I know... who knew Husky had friends!

A big thanks to the folks that submitted some pictures. Much appreciated.

It was brought to my attention that the KenoraOnline link to the BBSML newsletter had gone to an 'Error' page during the first couple of weeks of league play. That glitch has been repaired, but no indication what caused it. I am pleased to know that the link is being used. In fact, that is how I got to meet new member Marvin Moncrief. He had been following our league news from his home in Colorado and had sent a comment to the online newspaper and they kindly forwarded it to me. This is Marvin's first season with our league. Welcome here, Marvin!

By the way, the best way to find our newsletter with KenoraOnline is to tap on the search icon (looks like a magnifying glass) and type in Beauty Bay. Easy Peezy.

Story time:

A regular Golf contributor to Instagram Derek H. invited his readers to share their most embarrassing golf moment. Derek was impressed with the quantity and quality of contributions, but his favorite was the following...

"So, my company is a major sponsor of a high-level golf tournament and as a result, the organizers put on a Pro-Am on the Wednesday before the tournament. The pros had already played a 18 hole practice round that morning. The Pro-Am was scheduled to be a nine hole scramble with each foursome having one professional golfer. I got to ride with the pro. I was thrilled. Our team did OK and at the end of the round I'm standing next to the cart and the pro is

Murray, Brent, and Ed.
